

PowerRetrieve for Integrators

PowerRetrieve is a powerful information retrieval system that automatically indexes the text of scanned and electronic documents, turning the entire content into searchable data. With just a few words, dates or letter combinations you can search the full content of email message files, word processing documents, spreadsheets, PDF files, plans, drawings or photographs, even scanned documents, to locate the information you need.

The PowerRetrieve document capture and retrieval engine is now available for software developers to integrate its powerful capabilities into their own software or Line of Business applications.

Application Programming Interface

RESTful API

PowerRetrieve provides a powerful Application Programming Interface (API) which allows developers and OEM partners to programmatically pass search queries into the PowerRetrieve Document Repository and receive back a hit list of matching documents with fragments of text, highlighting colour-coded hit words.

It is a RESTful API and returns xml based output for calling applications to consume.

This API uses HTTP for all four Create, Read, Update and Delete operations.

- Pass search queries into PowerRetrieve
- Returns hit lists and colour coded document fragments
- Download documents with or without colour coded highlights
- Download original documents
- Create NEW documents
- Update existing documents
